It contains, in part, the history of our own affliction, since we last met to pay our annual thank-offering to our God. The Lord hath taken away from us, not the stay and staff of bodily support: for the harvest has been plenteous, and the laborers not few. But He has removed the stay and staff of the body politic. He has taken the mighty, the judge, and the prudent, and the ancient, and the honorable man, and the counsellor, and the eloquent orator. If to remember the blessings we have enjoyed, is the object of this day s appointment, and of this assembling of ourselves together; then I can think of no more fitting occupation for the hour, than the remembrance of those honorable men, to whose lives and labors, more than to those of any other who have lately lived or died, we are indebted for...
